

PORTSMOUTH WILL ANSWER CALL

The Red Cross of Portsmouth has been asked by the National Body to send contributions for the relief of the intense suffering in Japan. Portsmouth has never failed her duty when the call has been made for succor to starving peoples anywhere. President H. C. Taylor and Treasurer F. M. Sise of the local Chapter have arranged with the local banks to receive contributions and a booth will be placed in front of the First National where all may pass in their mite. The Japanese horror has touched all America and our people have given prompt relief. In every call this city has responded and our action should be prompt in order to do the greatest amount of good. Our own may feel the pinch of hunger and need some day. In the name of humanity give to the millions of homeless people.

RIOTING BREAKS OUT IN TOKIO

FORTY GUESTS FLEE IN HOTEL BLAZE COAL FACTIONS ARE UPRISING STARTED BY REVOLUTIONARIES

The Imperial at Narragansett Pier Destroyed By Fire Early This Morning

(By Associated Press)
Narragansett Pier, R. I., Sept. 6.—Forty summer colonists at this resort were routed from their beds early today when the Imperial Hotel at which they were guests, caught fire. There was no panic and a few minutes after the fire was discovered everyone was safely out of the building and soon the structure was a roaring mass of flames.
The alarm was given by a member of the Coast Guard who saw smoke curling from the roof of the building at 4 o'clock in the morning.
The loss is estimated at $500,000 including injury to the Hotel Massasoit and a number of residences which were damaged by heat and water.
The Imperial Hotel, the largest and most elaborate of the colony, was burned to the ground. The flames are said to have started in the fifth floor attic from defective wiring.
The guests were quartered temporarily at neighboring hotels. Most of them lost many of their personal belongings and were forced to rush from the building in their night clothes. The burned hostelry was a few hundred yards from the beach and the center of the social life of the colony.

THIEVES STEAL VALUABLE FURS

Rich Haul Made in Boston Store Early This Morning

(By Associated Press)
Boston, Sept. 6.—The theft of furs valued at $100,000 from the Washington street store of Silberberg Bros. was reported to the police early today. The thieves are believed to have entered the clothing store of Mason and Jacobs through the roof and then to have cut their way down into the fur store below which is on the fourth floor. The furs had been sorted over and only the best of the $250,000 stock taken.

Terms Somewhat Modified But Large Differences Still Exist

(By Associated Press)
Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—The leaders in the miners unions and anthracite operators whose differences have led to a general suspension had some new grounds to go over but still exhibited large differences in views when Governor Pinchot reassembled them today in the course of his peace effort.
Tentative agreements on the part of the employers group to drop the stand for arbitration which has been upheld since the inception of negotiations were understood to be in the governor's hands as the result of the executive sessions of yesterday.

Miners unions officials too had in some degree modified the original scope of their demands by agreeing that a ten percent wage increase for contract miners might do. They continued, however, to ask more for the day workers who constitute the bulk of anthracite employees and this the operators were most unwilling to concede.

CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD CHARGED

(By Associated Press)
Boston, Sept. 6.—Louis Miller of Boston was arrested today on a fugitive warrant issued by Federal authorities in New York state under two indictments charging him with conspiracy to defraud the United States government of property worth $469,109. He was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hayes and held in $5000 bail for a hearing Sept. 13. Bail will be increased to $10,000 tomorrow, it was said. The indictment charges that in June 1920 Miller, with a companion also from Boston, their bid for certain property sold by the government at its arsenal in Watervliet, N. Y., having been accepted, removed from the arsenal other material to the value mentioned to which he was not legally entitled.

WILL NOT DROP INDICTMENT

(By Associated Press)
White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Superior Court Justice Wagner today refused to dismiss the indictment charging first degree murder against Walter S. Ward, wealthy broker's son in connection with the slaying of Clarence E. Peters, ex-marine. Justice Wagner also refused to admit Ward to bail or to reduce the charge in the indictment. The trial is scheduled to start next Wednesday. Attaches of the attorney general's office deny reports that he is not ready to proceed and that postponement for a month or two might be asked.

Tokio, Sept. 6.—Twenty-seven new earthquake shocks were felt during the night but the authorities today expressed the view that no further destructive ones were likely. Occasional outbursts of fire lighted up the sky but they were not dangerous. Splendid order is being maintained in the earthquake area. Temporary lighting systems have been established in the parks where thousands are encamped under rude shelters. Railroad communication has been restored from Omiya westward.

Iwakura Wireless Station, Japan, Sept. 6.—A courier returning today from Tokio described the disaster there as unspeakable. The city, he said, was three-fourths burned. On ponds in the parks he found charred unidentified bodies floating "like fishes." Within a certain area all things had been reduced to ashes except iron frames. The burned wrecks of street cars and automobiles clogged the streets. The sufferers were gathered in public squares and parks lying under sheets on mats living on the scanty food supplied by the authorities. The army was restoring the means of communication.

Boston, Sept. 6.—The American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions today received a cablegram from Dr. E. F. Cobb in Japan which reported that there was no cause for anxiety as all the members of the mission were "quite safe."

Peking, Sept. 6.—The police of Chiba at the northeast corner of Tokio Bay report a new island off the Izu Peninsula, while they say the Island of Oshima which contained an active volcano is invisible and is feared to have gone down with its 10,000 or more inhabitants. There still is no news from the Bonin Island and catastrophic dangers there are feared.

Paris, Sept. 6.—The French ambassador to Japan, Paul Claudel, is safe aboard the steamship Andred Lebon, the foreign office was notified in a cable message from the French consul at Kobe. The counselor of the embassy, Prince Henry de Bearn, has arrived at Kobe aboard the President Jefferson.

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—The Radio Corporation office here was advised today that the Funabashi wireless station ten miles east of Tokio had been reopened and was transmitting and receiving Japanese and American government messages.

New York, Sept. 6.—All missionaries of the Methodist board of foreign missions of Japan, with members of their families, escaped death in the earthquake, according to a cable message received from Bishop Herbert Welch in Karuziawa, a mountain resort about 80 miles from Tokio. Fifty persons attached to Methodist missions are in the affected area.

Manila, Sept. 6.—The army quarter-master corps here is working night and day loading the transports Meigs and Merrill with supplies for the relief of the disaster sufferers in Japan.

Nagasaki, Sept. 6.—It is stated that an American military attaché and 25 other persons were killed in the derailment of a train between Hiratsuka and Oiso during the earthquake. The secretary of the German embassy also was killed. It is reported that a passenger train near Atami was hurled into the sea and 300 persons drowned. Thirty of the passengers swam ashore.

New York, Sept. 6.—All American and native staff members of the Young Woman's Christian Association in Japan are safe, according to a message received by the national board from Miss Jane Scott, head of the Y. W. C. A. in Kioyo.

Hong Kong, Sept. 6.—An earthquake relief committee composed of British, Japanese and Chinese has been formed here. It will ship 500 tons of rice to Japan at once.

Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 6.—W. P. Min-ton, foreign secretary of the Christian church, has received a wireless message to the effect that all missionaries of that church in Japan are safe. Among the missionaries are Mr and Mrs. E. C. Fry and Miss Martha Stacey of New Hampshire.

Moscow, Sept. 6.—Reports received here by way of Vladivostok state that as the result of the submarine convulsions attending the earthquake a new island thirty miles long and fifteen miles in width has sprung up in the sea off Yokohama.

London, Sept. 6.—The steamship Empress of Canada is on the way to Shanghai with several hundred injured refugees, says the Central News, as the hospitals in Kobe are full. Medical supplies are being rushed to the stricken area.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Relief When Other Medicines Failed

Winston-Salem, N. C.—"I was weak and run-down and had trouble with my side. I had been taking medicine for a long time and nothing seemed to do me any good. My husband went to the drug store and he said to the clerk, 'I want the best medicine you have for women's troubles.' He gave him a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and in a short time I was not only able to do every bit of that and washing and ironing, but I help my husband at the store and feel good all the time."—Mrs. L. K. FIND ALCOHOL IN MOTORCYCLE

Newton Cox of Boston was fined $100 in police court at Hampton by Judge Howell M. Lamprey yesterday for illegal possession.

Sunday morning a motorcycle belonging to Cox was found in the rear of a cafe at the beach and search of the machine revealed more than 20 gallons of alcohol. Later in the day Cox telephoned the police from Boston and stated that he would come Monday to claim his motorcycle which he stated had been lost.

Upon his arrival he was arrested by Chief of Police Munsey. In court today Cox was unable to explain how the motorcycle and the alcohol was where it was found.

COUNTRY CLUB SUPPER AND DANCE FOR NEXT WEEK

The Country Club are to hold a supper and dance at the club on Wednesday, Sept. 12. This will be the last social while the college students are home and it was advanced so that they could attend, as the majority will leave the following week for school. The socials at the club this year have been wonderfully successful and the attendance at all has been very large. Supper will be served at 6.30 and this will be followed by dancing until midnight.

There are but a few more events on the calendar at the club. Sept. 22 the team match with the Manchester Country Club will be held at the new course in Manchester. Oct. 6 the team match with Haverhill will be held at Haverhill. Columbus Day there will be a golf tournament and on the 27th there will be the annual club team match which is always the closing golf event of the season. Several more socials will be held at the club this fall before they are taken up in town.

NEW FOOTBALL FIELD NOT AVAILABLE THIS FALL

The promised foot ball field for the high school will not be available this fall. All work has been suspended on the ground for lack of money as the Council refused to allow any appropriation for this work. The foundation for the ground however, is laid and it is possible that in time somebody with some sporting blood will be in the Council and will see the project carried through.

NO QUAKE FOR 30 YEARS

New York, Sept. 6.—Earth tremors may continue in Japan for several days but after that a bad quake may not be expected for 30 years, according to Dr. Chester A. Reeves, assistant curator of geology, at the American Museum of Natural History.

The explosion at Owakidani, may be a sympathetic volcanic development precipitated by the earthquake, he said. "Volcanoes are not so closely related to earthquakes as was believed some years ago." Dr. Reeves added, "but the connection remain in a minor degree. It is quite probable that the Owakidani explosion of a volcano that had long been dead and which was provoked by the disturbance of last Saturday."

The Harding stamps are now on sale at the postoffice and the supply is of course limited.

LEHIGH VALLEY RAILROAD LAYS OFF 500 COAL HAULERS

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 5.—On account of the coal strike in the Hazleton district the Lehigh Valley Railroad has laid off approximately five hundred men employed in handling coal and drew the fires from fifty locomotives.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 5.—Due to miners' strike, suspension of mining in the upper coal fields remained complete yesterday. Many miners are looking for jobs in other industries, pending a settlement of the anthracite wage question, while some are using their idle time in painting and repairing their homes. The younger element is spending the time in athletic diversions.

Mineworkers are still optimistic of an early resumption while operators say they do not look for a short suspension so long as the workers demand a big increase in wages, the check-off and other concessions. Several more railroad crews were laid off. There is no coal for shipment and none for local demand.

SAYS BLUE LAWS ARE MOCKERY OF CONSTITUTION

Baltimore.—Our Puritan forefathers that landed some 300 years ago on a "stern and rock-bound coast" wanted religious freedom, but they wanted it only for themselves, and the blue laws they made now stand as mockery of the Constitution of the United States.

This theme was elaborated recently by Prof. C. S. Longacre, of Washington, international secretary of the Religious Liberty Association, in an address before the Seventh Day Adventist camp meeting, Reisterstown road and Oakmont avenue. He said:

"The guarantee of freedom is the greatest of the three 'inalienable rights' of the Constitution, and the desire for freedom in religious thought is God-given. It has enabled man to cope with tyranny in every form. It comes before all happiness."

EARTHQUAKES AND SEAQUAKES AKIN

Earthquakes, or earth tremors, are believed to be due to some form of fracture caused by the breakage of the earth's substance under a growing strain, when the strain has passed the breaking point. This causes waves through the solid substance, or crust, of the earth, and vertically upwards to the surface, sometimes with disastrous effect.

Earthquakes and volcanoes are most common in regions where high mountains are near deep seas—as on the westward of South and Central America, the Aleutian islands, Kurile islands, Japan, Sumatra, Java and other islands of the East Indies bordering on the deep waters of the Indian ocean, New Zealand and the Lesser Antilles in the West Indies, Iceland, Italy and Greece.

When great earthquakes occur in the crust of the earth that is at the bottom of the sea, vast waves are sometimes rolled on the shores of continents. The first sign of the coming disaster is the withdrawal of the sea from the shore, leaving bare the bed of the harbor. A few minutes later the sea returns in a high, irresistible wave, which overflows the adjoining land. Again and again it with draws and returns, the oscillations slowly diminishing.

A notable seaquake was that of August, 1883, off the Chilean coast, when the coast of South America was shaken from Ecuador to Valdivia. In the town of Arica most of the buildings were leveled. A few minutes later the sea began to retire slowly from the shore, so that vessels anchored in seven fathoms of water were left high and dry.

The sea returned as a tremendous wall of water, sweeping the vessels in land like chips of wood. Among them was the U. S. S. Waterloo, which was carried inland nearly half a mile and there left, little damaged. The wave of this catastrophe was felt on coasts of Australia, Japan, Kamchatka, Alaska and California. In the harbor of Hakodate, Japan, where the ordinary tide is about 2 1/2 to 3 feet, the water rose and fell a height of 10 feet in 20 minutes. It had taken the first wave 24 hours to travel the 7600 miles from South America.

In May, 1877, another earthquake was felt in many of the same places affected by the South American quake. At Arica the stranded hulk of the U. S. S. Waterloo, which had remained high and dry for nine years, was picked up and swept farther inland. Like its predecessor, that wave was felt all over the Pacific.

E. S. Grow, author of geological books, expressed the opinion that to satisfy the requirements of such a wave as rolled upon the South American coast at Arica in 1883 would require the sudden drop of many hundred square miles of sea bottom—perhaps of several thousand square miles.

U. S. LINES TAKES OVER LEVIATHAN OFFICIALLY

New York, Sept. 5.—For the first time yesterday the steamship Leviathan was in the possession of the United States lines. The actual transfer of the great liner from F. H. and W. F. Gibbs, engineers who reconditioned her, to the Shipping Board fleet, took place at one minute after midnight. The shipping men pronounced satisfaction in the possession of the huge craft.

CUB-SOX 1906 SERIES GOES INTO HISTORY; SCHULTE QUILTS GAME

Chicago, Sept. 6.—With Frank Schulte dropping out of the professional baseball ranks this season, the last two great Chicago teams that battled for the world's championship in 1906 have quit active participation in the game. True, Frank Chance, of "Peerless Leader" fame and Pat Moran, of the Reds, are very much in the spotlight of the sport today yet neither cavort on the diamond in actual play.

Up to the time that Schulte resigned from the Oakland club of the Coast league, seven of the former stars of the two 1906 teams still had something to do with baseball. Schulte was the only one actually playing, however. The others were: Cubs: Chance and Moran, who are managers and John Evers, who was with the White Sox last year. Sox: Nick Altrock, now with Washington but who is on the coaching line and never plays; Frank Isbell, owner and manager of the Wichita Club of the Western league and Ed Walsh, who is now scout and pitchers' coach for the White Sox.

Intimate details of the series remains in the minds of the baseball public even to this day, judging by the many reminiscences heard at any gathering of baseball fans. It was remarkable in one respect at least. The underdog had his day. The Cubs came up to the big event hailed as world beaters in every sense of the word, while the White Sox had triumphed in the American league by a scant margin and were known as the "Hitless Wonders." Few, outside of rabid and partisan fans, believed the Sox had a chance to win. But win they did in a most impressive manner. The series was then a five game affair, three wins out of five games deciding the victor.

The Sox won the first, lost the second, won the third, lost the fourth and annexed the world's championship by winning the fifth, and final game. The players on the team consisted of Fiedler Jones, managing and playing right field; Jiggs Donahue on first; Frank Isbell on second; George Rohe at third; Lee Tannehill playing short, having been switched over from third when George Davis, the regular shortstop was injured late in the regular season; Pat Dougherty in center and Eddie Hahn in right with Billy Sullivan behind the bat and Doc White, Ed Walsh, Frank Owens and Nick Altrock on the firing line.

The Cubs were made up of Chance at first; Evers at second; Tinker at short; making that great relay team of "Tinker, to Evers to Chance." Haragor Steinfeldt was at third; Jimmy Sheppard in center, Artie Hoffman in left and Frank Schulte in right; with Johnny Kling behind the bat, assisted by Pat Moran; Mordecai ("Three Fingers") Brown, Eddie Reulbach, Jack Pfeister and big Orval Overall doing the twirling.

One man from each team has died. These are Harry Steinfeldt and Jiggs Donahue.

Of the other White Sox, Fiedler Jones retired from the game only to come back and manage the St. Louis Federals for a time and then go back to his lumber brokerage business in the northwest.

Isbell is the owner and manager of the Wichita club of the western league. Rohe is in charge of the phonograph department of a large drug firm in Cincinnati. Tannehill lives at South Bend, Ind., and is a salesman for a Chicago packing house; George Davis lives in St. Louis and is employed in the assembling plant of an automobile manufacturer; Pat Dougherty is living at Bolivar, N. Y., and was only recently a member of the police force there; Eddie Hahn is in the cigar business at Des Moines. Billy Sullivan put his money into fruit and is now reported to own one of the best apple orchards in Oregon; Doc White, who is a dentist, is athletic director and baseball coach at Central High, Washington, D. C.; Frank Owen is in the automobile business in Detroit; Ed Walsh is scouting and coaching for the White Sox and Nick Altrock is coaching for the Washington Americans and doing vaudeville stunts for the fans before each game.

WOMAN PRICKS AUTO TIRES FOR REVENGE

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 4.—Mrs. W. L. Scott and Ridley Justice had been platonic friends for a long time. Then came a breach, and a thirst for revenge on the part of Mrs. Scott.

Being possessed of original ideas, Mrs. Scott rushed down the street with an ice pick and into a garage where Justice was waiting with his expensive twin-six automobile. With great speed she dashed around the machine—blootie! blootie! blootie!—four explosions rent the oil-soaked atmosphere, and four tires subsided with a loud cry.

The pioneer ice pick welder and originator of a new revenge appeared in court before Recorder Johnson a few hours later with a conquering expression written on her face. After hearing the long story the judge fined each $10 and costs.

GETS SUDDEN RIDE ON PILOT OF LOCOMOTIVE

Allentown, Pa.—When an automobile occupied by John Koch and Eddie Paix, each aged sixteen years, and by Thelma Davies, aged twelve, and Margaret Paix, ten, was struck by a train Miss Davies was thrown from her seat and landed on the pilot of the locomotive. She was given a ride of 100 yards before the train was brought to a stop. She escaped, however, without a scratch.

CHASED BRIDE OF SIX MONTHS WITH A SCYTHE

"Father Time" with his scythe attempted to rush matters and was haled into police court at Washington to answer to a charge of making threats. Daniel D. Robison, a venerable colored man, who himself had no idea of his age, was charged with corn whiskey and chased his bride of sixteen months, herself "sixty or seventy odd years old" with a scythe. He was sent down for a mental examination by Judge Gus A. Schuldt.

SLEEP WALKER FALLS INTO CHIMNEY AND KEEPS ON SNORING

Huntington, L. I.—Marston Coffin, 19 years old, whose family occupy the Archie Roosevelt home on Turkey lane, Cold Spring Harbor, took a walk in his sleep. He climbed out of a dormer window on the roof and dexterously inserted himself in a brick chimney.

He slid down twenty feet inside the chimney and brought up where the flue took an elbow turn. His sleep wasn't interrupted.

When he work in the morning he didn't recognize his surroundings. He beat on the walls and shouted. Presently persons in the house heard him and located where his voice came from. The fire department worked an hour in vain to release him.

Finally they tore the bottom of the chimney out and freed Coffin, who appeared unaffected.

For comfort in every room, get a Glenwood Furnace. It burns anything

THIS winter will test your home heating system to the utmost. Not only must it heat every room in your home, but it must do the job economically and efficiently with whatever kind of fuel you are able to get.

That is the outstanding advantage of the Glenwood furnace. Its grate is adaptable to any kind of fuel—wood, coal, soft coal or coke.

A Glenwood Furnace makes the most of every bit of fuel. The straight-sided fire box burns the fuel evenly; it doesn't drop a hole out of the center of your fire when you shake down the ashes. The feed doors have been made extra wide to admit large chunks of wood.

It will pay you to find out about the Glenwood Furnace before you begin burning up your winter's supply of fuel in a wasteful or worn-out heating system. We shall be glad to furnish you with full particulars about a Glenwood installation for your home.

Single-Pipe models of this furnace may be had in several sizes for coal or wood Britain's Control of Crude Rubber.

"With a grip on production of crude rubber and with a contemplated program to levy an import tax on the finished product, England places American manufacturers at a great disadvantage," declares Harvey S. Firestone, who has for some time past been urging America to produce its own rubber. "England already controls about 85 per cent of the world's plantation rubber, through ownership of rubber plantations by British capital, and naturally dominates the situation," says Mr. Firestone. "Being in this position the British Colonial Office some months ago enacted legislation restricting production and exportation of crude rubber from its Far Eastern colonies, and soon after the passage of the law the price of crude rubber advanced about 150 per cent."

The monthly summary of foreign commerce published by the Department of Commerce shows that during the fiscal year ended June 30, last, we imported nearly 798,000,000 pounds of crude rubber, compared with 568,000,000 pounds the year before. The lowest unit price during the fiscal year was in October, at 13 7-10 cents a pound. The highest was in April at 31 1-2 cents. It closed at 30 2-10 cents in June, concerning which Mr. Firestone says: "Rubber prices have dropped somewhat from the peak reached, due to smuggling and forged documents in the supply regions, and the fact that rubber growers who secured the legislation feared that the rapid rise in price was arousing too strong public sentiment in America against the act, and that too high a cost at the present time might have a tendency to force a modification of the law, or even its repeal."

Of the imports for 1923, about 624,000,000 pounds came from the United Kingdom (76,000,000 lbs.) and the British East Indies (548,000,000 lbs.). This is about 78 per cent of the total imports for the year. From the Dutch East Indies we imported 113,000,000 pounds, or about 14 per cent. The next largest source of supply was Brazil—31,000,000 pounds. The Brazil price averaged about 17 cents throughout the year. Brazil rubber is somewhat inferior to the oriental product, but science and skill can remedy this factor. And we ought to encourage rubber production in the Latin Americas. Congress has made a generous appropriation to enable the Department of Commerce to study the situation, but it is too early to expect a report.

As for our exports of rubber manufactures to the United Kingdom, the statistics of recent date are not specific. One item, casings for automobiles, shows about $4,000,000 worth annually. Probably $5,000,000 would cover all rubber goods.

Evidently England has caught us where the hair is short with respect to one commodity of great importance which has thus far refused to grow on American soil to any appreciable extent. But how silent are the critics who start their anvil chorus whenever the American Congress enacts a measure which will protect American interests.

The Building Program.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon believes that the government should get away from paying rent and own the necessary buildings in which its business must be done. It is understood he will recommend to Congress a big public building building program, to include post offices and other Federal structures in most of the large cities. The ultimate cost is said to be between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000, and the time of completion is placed at 20 years hence. Coming from Mr. Mellon, such a program, despite its apparent large cost, must be regarded as dictated by sound business judgment. The rents saved per year would be far in excess of a reasonable interest charge on the money invested.

Interdependence.

The president of the New York Central Railroad says that "the prosperity of the railroads is wrapped up in the prosperity of the country." That is true, but it is also true to a large extent that prosperity of the country is impossible unless the roads are in a healthy condition and able to furnish sufficient transportation at reasonable rates. It is useless for our factories and farms to produce if their products can not be promptly moved to market. Our sources of production and the railroads are dependent upon each other. An injury done to one will affect both.

Tongass Timber.

The Department of Agriculture has recently sold 334,000,000 feet of timber from the Tongass national forest in Alaska. The land will not be denuded, but enough trees will be left standing to insure a steady supply of timber. The incident illustrates one way in which the whole country may benefit from Alaska natural resources. The wood will be manufactured into paper for general use.

Our melting pot would work better if we could only keep careless foreign countries from dropping dynamite into it.

The public hit repeatedly by industrial strikes, is very slow about learning how to strike back.

URGES CAMPAIGN AGAINST WAR

Fred E. Smith Delivers Impressive Lecture at Chautauqua

"Europe is a seething vortex of hate and preparation for war," Fred E. Smith, a member of the executive committee of the World Alliance for International Friendship, told the local Chautauqua audience Wednesday evening, in the course of his lecture on "The World Outlook—Is It Peace or War—Brotherhood or Revolution?" He qualified his statement by maintaining that the common people of the world do not want war, but they are being dragged into it.

As remedies for the situation, Mr. Smith advanced the entrance of America into the World Court, and a great educational and inspirational campaign against war and in furtherance of more friendly relations between peoples to be launched by the Christian Church, whose nearly 2,000,000 priests, missionaries, ministers and other servants, once united in this great cause, could save the world from another great catastrophe such as the World War, Mr. Smith thinks. They could impress the idea of the brotherhood of man upon all the world.

Mr. Smith declared that America is the key to the world situation today. America inside the purveys with European nations would exert an influence which would prevent war. But if America remains outside European deliberations, it will mean another great war in the near future. And when that war comes, America will be in it because it will be impossible to keep out of it.

A policy of isolation for America is no longer possible, Mr. Smith maintained. America must take her rightful place in world affairs and lend her influence to deliberation of world problems.

"Turn up this table talk about isolation," said Mr. Smith, "and carry America all the way in and let her do her part of the world's work."

Explaining his connection with the World Alliance of International Friendship, including representatives in 21 nations, he told of being selected to head a delegation to go to Japan for this organization in the interests of brotherhood and peace. Mr. Smith's trip, which he began a year ago last fall, took him not only to Japan, but to nearly all the other countries of the Orient and then across the continent to France, England and home. He declared that his principal impression on his trip was that the common people were crying for an end of war. And yet, out of the 19 nations which he visited, 18 are getting ready for a war which they feel must inevitably come.

Mr. Smith told with much feeling of his meeting with the late President Harding on the occasion of an invitation to the White House shortly before this trip around the world was started. Mr. Smith said President Harding expressed great interest in the trip and told him to tell the people of the world that America has no quarrel with any nation and does not want to make war on any nation.

"Tell the people you speak to," said the President, "that I myself am preaching the gospel of a better understanding among nations."

Mr. Smith said that there are a thousand pacifists in the world today where there was one in 1914. He declared that the motherhood of the world, the colleges and universities, organized labor and also the American Legion are loyal supporters of peace.

Yet the world goes on preparing for war. The speaker referred to prominent men who have recently returned to this country from Europe and who are now predicting a war there soon. Among those mentioned in this connection were Medill McCormick and Senator Underwood.

If there must be rules for making war, Mr. Smith said he would like to revise them so that war could be declared in any country only after a referendum vote of the people had been taken on the question. Also, he would not allow any young men to be sent to war, only those over 50 years of age. No man would be allowed to make any money out of the war. All men would be treated financially alike. And, most important of all, every man who voted for war would be required to go to the front at once and live in the mud for six months.

Again declaring himself in favor of President Harding's World Court plan, Mr. Smith said that America's entrance into such an international body and the influence of the Christian church upon the world will do more toward preventing another war than anything else which he knew of.

The Chautauqua program on Wednesday afternoon and evening opened with delightful numbers by the Misses Frances Callow and Edith Smith, harp soloists, and Bonnie Brooke, singer of character and folk songs. Brilliance of execution marked the work of these artists far above the ordinary and they were listened to with pleasure and given liberal applause after each number.

Miss Brooke sang folk songs in costume, catching the spirit of the different national songs with rare perception. She reproduced the dialect, mannerisms and gestures of each character with an ability that marked her as a gifted artist. The attractive personality and dainty gowns of the three young women gave an added charm to their renditions. The closing number of the prelude in the evening, "Home, Sweet Home," rendered by the two harpists, touched all hearts.

"Success With Ease" was the topic of the address by Geoffrey Morgan on Wednesday afternoon and he held the close attention of his audience to its close.

Mr. Morgan began by defining success, asserting that success is the quality which makes a man an asset rather than a liability in his community. He caused smiles to come over the faces of his hearers as he quoted the conversation of a man who said no kind of a lecture could interest him, but the speaker said to get something from a lecture you must bring something to take it away in.

Mr. Morgan asserted that success is not a matter of luck or chance and that luck "is the fool's explanation of another's success."

The speaker took up the qualities which make for success and said "energy" comes near the front and that success of a moderate and reasonable kind does lie within the reach of all of us if we are willing to pay the price. When we prosper we think it is because we are far sighted but when it is the other fellow who gets ahead we call it his luck, but we should realize that man has something in him which some others haven't.

The speaker scored the man who watches the clock or listens for the whistle to tell him to quit work. The idle drifter, loafer and slacker who has no work gets nowhere. Another quality that makes for success is "enterprise."

We must be enterprising to have initiative and vision for the future, says, "where there is no vision the people perish." The man who has no vision lacks enterprise. If a town has vision then all other things will come. Mr. Morgan told of three groups of people; first, the people who do just what they are told; second, those who do not aim to do what they are told and the third group who do their work without being told. Many, he said, go to the lodge room and repeat the oath or go to church and hear instructions but never follow them in their lives. Right ideas, he stated, are worthless without enterprise. We must put our right ideas in operation, as they never can do any good until translated into action.

"Enthusiasm" is another important factor in one's success, said the speaker. Enthusiasm creates business. All one's work may be done with enthusiasm providing it's the right work and the lecture stressed the necessity of finding the right work and of having the right attitude toward it. He quoted Thomas Carlyle's words:

"Blessed is the man who has found his work." He illustrated his point by a recent visit to a physician, telling of having his tonsils treated, and while he felt the doctor's job was a most unpleasant one, he readily noticed that the physician had his heart in his work and with that attitude he asks for no other pleasure than to make a success of his career. Mr. Morgan again illustrated his point by saying how a baseball player would slide in the dirt on one ear and elbow to reach his base, but if it were not a part of the sport he could not be hired to do such a thing.

"Effort" was another essential to success, said Mr. Morgan. Success comes from hard work and plenty of it. There are substitutes for many things but no satisfactory substitute for hard work has ever been invented. He scored the get-rich-quick schemer and the man who forever seeks to get something for nothing and said whenever a man promises to let you in on the ground floor he will later let you out on the basement. The plain hard cold fact is that there is just one way to get ahead in this world and that is to do an honest day's work every day and do it in the right way and for an honest day's wage.

Efficiency is the apposite and the antidote of waste. It is not always the man who is born with the silver spoon in his mouth who prospers the most, but more often the man who takes care of what he has and makes the most of it to help him on. Mr. Morgan quoted the well known saying, "Willful waste makes woeful want" and told of the importance of people not even wasting their time. He referred to the failure of many young people to use their time and opportunities to the best advantage. Benjamin Franklin said, "If you value life, value time." The speaker told of the habit of procrastination, the thief of time, which so many of us have and how much better we would all get on if we were to act on the "Do It Now" plan, for if we continue to go down the street of By and By we will reach the street of Never. He also laid stress on the need of young people starting a savings account and not spending all their spare money on amusements and unnecessary things. He believed in their having pleasure but said it was wiser to spend on the fifty-fifty plan, and if half of the amount was put in the bank it would come in handy when the boy or girl had reached middle life or later. In the home of the savings bank deposit there is always bread.

"Ethics" come last in the speaker's formula for achieving success with E's. He laid stress on the necessity of having a Christian character to attain success. "Accept the Golden Rule and the Golden Age will come" he argued. A man to succeed must have a high-minded morality. We need the plain, simple old-fashioned virtues to succeed and we can have them if we are ready to press forward for the right. In conclusion the speaker quoted the Bible statement, "Seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Victor Herbert's musical comedy, "When Sweet Sixteen," with Dorothy Seeger and a company of twenty-five will be the big attraction at the Chautauqua tent this evening.

At the morning lecture on Wednesday Geoffrey Morgan spoke on the subject, "What's the Use?" the theme referring to the getting of an education. He laid stress on the need of young people keeping in school and pointed out that not only is a person with a good education able to earn a better salary, but there are other important reasons. The only aristocracy in this country, he said, is an "aristocracy of brains" and all young people should make use of their opportunities to join that aristocracy and not be looked upon as an inferior. One should develop a higher enough degree of mentality to understand things worth while.

Charles W. Paddock, "the greatest short distance runner the world has ever known" was the attraction at the Chautauqua this morning. He gave an excellent talk on the value of an athletic training and the spirit of true sportsmanship and fight and how these will win a place for the young American in later life. He told of the three essentials for a good athlete, a fighting spirit, sportsmanship and condition.

Mr. Paddock has lately returned from participating in the interworld collegiate races held at the University of Paris, where 32 nations were represented. He won all the races in which he participated.

COMES HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

Captain Charles Miners who arrived here Wednesday evening from Saco, Me., to take charge of the local work of the Salvation Army, comes here highly recommended for the work and it is expected he will be most successful. Ensign Fred McKinnon will be his assistant in the work in this city.

Captain Miners was transferred here from Saco, Me., to take the place of Captain and Mrs. Addy who have been sent to the Washington district. He has done excellent work in Saco and those in touch with his work there much regretted his leaving. Dr. George R. Lee of Saco, Me., in speaking of Captain Miners says:

"I have personally known Captain Miners for about two years. I know him to be a man of the highest moral character, and upon all occasions a gentleman of the old school. I also know of his Army work here in Saco. He has built up a wonderful work and it is still growing. All who know Captain Miners speak of him in the highest terms."

At the recent camp meeting of the Salvation Army at Old Orchard, Me., Colonel McIntire said before the large audience that the Salvation Army Corps of Saco had made the best record in the past year of any corps in New England and this was accomplished by the hard work of those in charge.

HAD EXCELLENT RECORD AT SEA

Capt. Zachariah Williams, Who Died Wednesday Was 45 Years a Master

Captain Zachariah Williams, veteran mariner and oldest man of Kittery Point, Me., and holder of the Boston Post came, died at his home, the historic Sir William Pepperell mansion, in that village, Wednesday afternoon.

Captain Williams is survived by one son, J. Eugene Williams of Kittery. The funeral service will be held on Sunday afternoon, the hour of the funeral to be announced later.

Captain "Zach" Williams was truly a "grand old man" of the coasting fleet and his record, 60 years at sea, 45 years as master, 23 years of the time in one vessel, only three accidents in his career, and 600 trips out of the Penobscot river, is one of which he may have well been proud. He was known to most of the shipmasters on the New England coast and few could boast such a long and successful sea-faring experience.

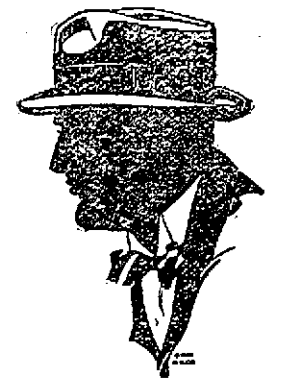

Captain Williams first went to sea at the age of 10 as cook with his father in the schooner Frances of Kittery and later went fishing for a time out of Gloucester, Mass. At the age of 19 he succeeded his father in command of the Frances, which he sailed in the coasting trade for two years. One of the vessels Captain Williams sailed on was the Union of Portsmouth. He took command in 1865 and for seven years brought cargoes of lumber to Portsmouth for her owner, the late ex-Mayor John H. Broughton.

Later Captain Williams was in command of the well-known Portsmouth schooner, Mary Willis, built here in 1863. In charge of Captain Williams the Mary Willis ran out of Bangor for 33 years until she met with an accident and became hopelessly stranded. In all his experience Captain Williams never lost a man or a stick of lumber and never spoiled a bushel of grain or any other cargo.

After he gave up sea-faring life he had many calls from visiting masters of schooners in the harbor, who knew him well in the olden days, and all received cordial hospitality in his home.

KITTERY POINT

Kittery Point, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Robert W. McClure delightfully entertained a number of her classmates from Bates college, class 1913, at the Congregational parsonage, over the week end and Labor Day. The guests began to arrive on Thursday, and several remained until Tuesday. Many of the friends and classmates had not met for several years, each taking up different walks in life. Mrs. McClure has been a missionary in China for seven years, just returning this summer. It was a happy reunion and pleasant friendships were renewed, and many of their experiences since school days were talked over. On Saturday afternoon, an outing was enjoyed at Sea Point, a baked bean supper being served on the beach. After church service on Sunday evening all gathered around the open fire place in the Community House. A quiet time was enjoyed and all joined in singing hymns. The evening was an inspiration to all. The days passed all too quickly, when it was time for the friends to separate and return to their different homes, all much pleased with the reunion and hospitality of Mrs. McClure. The guests were Miss Luene Pillsbury, Rangeley; Miss Florence Dey, West Kennebunk; Miss Mildred Goudy, So. Portland; the Misses Marguerita and Delphine Dugue, Lewiston; Miss Alice Thing, Limerick, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Russell and daughter of New Britain, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Curtis and two children of Segrean, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howette and son of North Billbrook, Mass.; Mrs. Wesley Eastman and daughter of Andover, N. H.

WATER MAIN BURST ON BRIDGE STREET

Pressure Damages Paving and Sidewalks

The repair crew in the water division of the Public Works Department certainly did a good quick job on bridge street Wednesday night. Shortly after 5 p. m. the main water feed line burst and the pressure damaged the highway paving and sidewalks between Hill and Deer streets. The men worked until 5 o'clock this morning to clear up the trouble. During the repairs the water service for Deer street including the Boston and Maine depot and part of Bridge street, was shut off and traffic stopped between Deer and Hill streets.

POLICE COURT

The case of Herbert Harris and Harry Lewis, who have one or more phony names, was heard in the municipal court today. The men were charged with breaking, entering and intent larceny on Aug. 22 at the summer house of George True at Seabrook.

The case has twice been continued. In the absence of County Attorney Waldron who was on a case at Salem, Attorney Harry W. Poyser prosecuted for the state. The prisoners pleaded not guilty but did not take the stand during the hearing to offer any defense. The witnesses were Joseph Dockam, a police officer; Herman R. Eaton, Randolph L. Bickford and the owner of the house, George E. True.

The three first named testified that they were working on Hampton bridge on the day the break was alleged and about 10 o'clock in the forenoon saw two men coming from the home. Knowing there were no inmates there at that time, they investigated and found a door lock broken and window smashed. Going through the house they also found one of the beds had been disturbed. Dockam held up a passing auto and made after the two men overtaking them near the toll gate.

Mr. True stated that he found nothing missing from the house. A rock and the broken window was offered.

ARMY AND NAVY CLUB FLEECED FOR $7,500

Bookkeeper, Arrested and Charged With Embezzlement Has Confessed

The Army and Navy Club, Washington's mecca of high service officials, has been defrauded of approximately $7,500, it was revealed when detectives Sergeant John Flaherty and John Fowler, arrested Thomas Cecil Cheltham, thirty-seven years old, bookkeeper of the club.

A few days ago Lieut. Commander William B. Rogers, secretary of the club, discovered shortages in the club's accounts. A hasty review of the books showed that large sums had been taken. The bookkeeper was at that time on three days' leave and the detectives planted his home at 303 South Washington avenue, Alexandria. Cheltham did not appear at his home and when he appeared at the club he was arrested. Shortages so far revealed, it is said, show that $740.35 in cash and near $6,500 in checks are missing.

The checks were discovered in a safe deposit box at the Guaranty Savings Bank, 1119 Fourteenth street northwest.

Cheltham is said to have admitted taking the money and checks. He said that he had to pay his wife alimony and he took the money for that purpose. He is said to have taken all the cash on August 3, 4, 6, 11 and 24.

Cheltham has been employed at the Army and Navy Club since March of this year. He is charged with embezzlement and is under detention at the First precinct station house.

Lieutenant Commander Rogers refused to discuss the case other than to say that Cheltham was arrested for taking money from the club.

YORK

Many Attend College

The number which will leave town to attend institutions of higher learning this fall is at once a tribute to the town, its educational system, and the parents of the fortunate and deserving students. The movement towards college education is nation-wide and is affecting this town with greater force each year. The following list is neither complete nor correct and is somewhat hypothetical in at least an indication of what is in the minds of prospective students. The high school class of 1923 sends five of its students to Gorham Normal School, the largest delegation to any one institution. The list: Roger Stratton, Bryant-Stratton Business College; Kingsbury Bragdon, University of Maine; Margaret Bridges, Dover Business College; Viola Chase, Gorham Normal School; Edward Cook, Harvard University; E. P. Cook, Bowdoin College; Kenneth Fellows, Worcester Polytechnic Institute; Doris Goodwin, Nason Institute; Marjorie Grant, Gorham Normal School; Una Hutchins, Gorham Normal School; Briant Hobson, New Hampshire University; Roger Lucas, Bentley's Accounting School; Edward Lucas, Springfield Y. M. C. A. College; Lloyd Moulton, Dartmouth College; Dorothy Moulton, Leslie's

Principal of Schools A. R. Carter has secured Louise Tripp of Rochester, N. H., to teach at the Grammar school at Cape Neddick and Mrs. A. R. Carter to teach the seventh grade in the village. The latter change was made necessary by the resignation of Mrs. Wyllie.

Frederic H. Gillett, Speaker of the National House of Representatives is at the Harbor for a month's rest at the Marshall House.

Miss Lillian Young has returned home after visiting friends in Lexington.

Miss Ruth Parsons is employed at the York hospital.

MAN ASKS HEAD BE EXAMINED

Portland, Me., Sept. 6.—Gerard P. Dunn, 23, formerly of Sanford, who was brought here from Mississippi, Aug. 20, after a search of four years, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging fraud in United States District Court and was sentenced by Judge Hale to serve a year and a day in the Atlanta Penitentiary. He retracted a previous plea of not guilty of illegally cashing two money orders at Biddeford, in 1919.

Dunn, when arraigned, asked the court to order physicians to make an examination of his head, complaining that a fractured skull, received in youth, had something to do with his delinquencies. The physician found no trace of anything wrong. Dunn's wife, who came with him from Vicksburg, was present today.

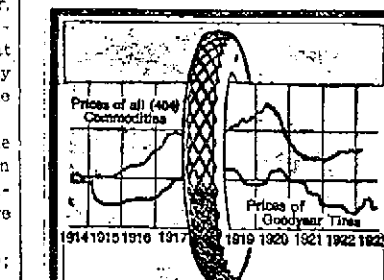

Postoffice Inspector A. B. Shehan stated that the defendant has served a sentence of six months for larceny of a payroll of $3000 from the United States Engineers' Corps in Louisiana, a year ago.

Last evening Armory Hall was crowded with good folks out for a good time and the Sons of Veterans and their ladies were there to see that they had a good time. Yes, it was the night of the barn dance and the farmers, their wives and hired help, and all the neighbors were there dressed in farm costumes, overalls and big hats, gingham dresses and sun bonnets. The sides of the hall were tastefully decorated with corn stalks, harnesses, pitch forks, etc. There was an old fashioned well with its bucket hanging on a rope where ice cold tonic was served, also ice cream. Every now and then the crowing of the barn yard fowl could be heard. The order of dances consisted of a mixture of old fashioned and the new fashioned, the former causing a great deal of merriment for the dancers of today and a great deal of pleasure for the dancers of yesterday. During the evening the Mayor of Bangville and his old friend Dr. Kurem arrived and took chairs of honor on the stage, watching the merry dancers. Yes, it was some event and already requests are being made for another to be given in the near future. There were over one hundred present. Miss Eunice James and K. T. Wood of Portsmouth furnished the music which was excellent.

SUBSTITUTE FUEL

FOUND IN LIGNITE

Washington, Sept. 6.—Completion of apparatus which makes it possible to manufacture anthracite coal from comparatively worthless lignite was announced recently by the bureau of mine.

Efforts will be made at once by officials of the interior department, it was said, to interest some commercial concern in the invention.

The importance of the discovery may be realized, the bureau said, when it is known that the United States possesses 1,512,000 tons are located in North and South Dakota and Montana. This territory annually imports large tonnages of anthracite and bituminous coal.

The bureau's experiments were carried out in co-operation with officials of the Canadian government. An oven was perfected, which was said to turn the lignite into a fuel having practically the same thermal efficiency as the best Pennsylvania hard coal.

The Canadian authorities, after seeing the oven in operation, decided to construct a similar unit and to give it a thorough test. The Canadian tests also proved successful, and Canadian engineers reported to the department of mines at Ottawa that the oven is "a practical, commercial oven, now past the experimental stage."

RECORD ENROLLMENT

Concord, Sept. 6.—The Concord schools opened for the fall term yesterday with the largest enrollment in the city's history, practically every principal reporting pupils taxing the building capacity, with many more due to enroll during the next few days. More than 500 reported at the senior high school and both junior high school buildings were similarly overcrowded.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

Scientists say that gas is the only substance ever discovered or invented that will burn. What they mean by this is that solids and liquids called "fuels" must first be converted into gases before they will burn.

This is an important fact to remember about gas service. You don't have to do any so-called "converting" yourself.

That is done for you at the gas plant. Gas is delivered to you as the essence of coal and oil, with all the dirt, soot and muss left behind at the plant.

Because gas is clean, concentrated heat, it does away with disease-laden smoke, grime, soot and ashes; saves upholstery, furniture and clothes; and helps us all to enjoy the good health that goes with a pure, wholesome atmosphere.

FATHER OF GIRL ORDERS COUPLE HELD UP

Romance of Portsmouth Girl and Former Navy Man Nipped in the Bud

Bessie Clark, 16 years old, of this city, and Fred Bruce of North Adams were held by the police of Station 1, Boston, at the request of the girl's father, John W. Clark. They were taken in charge on the arrival of a train from Portsmouth at the North Station, thus meeting an unexpected holdup in their proposed elopement.

Bessie left a note in her room saying she was going to New York, which gave the first clue to her father who communicated with the Boston police and followed the couple on a later train. He convinced his daughter that she had better wait a few years more before getting married and give up her romantic ideas. She agreed to return home with her father.

The girl met Bruce while he was serving in the navy and was attached to the U. S. Chewink at the Portsmouth navy yard. He is now employed in a Boston garage. No charge was preferred against him by the Boston police.

United States Consul Korjassoff, who was among those killed in the Japanese disaster, had a brother who at one time was attached to the local navy yard and was well known here.
The consul himself was a former Yale athlete.

The submarine S-1, the experimental boat of the submarine fleet, sailed from the yard today for New London.
This is the only submarine that can carry an airplane on board. The plane is housed in a tube arrangement on the deck of the sub and is floated in and out of the tube. The new V boats will all carry planes.

Plans are being made for another boxing match to be held in the near future. The local fans are ripe for a good show and would like to see some good boys in action. There are several good boys at the navy yard who could give a good preliminary bout and two good lads from Boston for the finals would make a good show.

The work of removing the houses on the land in Kittery which will be used for the bridge approach is under way and all are expected to be taken off by the first of the year. Just what will be done about a proper road connection with the Post Road and the bridge is still in the air as Governor Baxter is unwilling that very much money should be expended on this gateway of Maine. Some of the Kittery people think that it is because he fears that it will give the tourist too good an impression of Maine.

COMING BRIDE GIVEN SHOWER

Wednesday noon the young ladies employed in the offices of the Railway Mail association, tendered Miss F. Gertrude Bridle a shower, the affair being given in honor of her approaching marriage to John Neeley, pharmacist in the navy.

Miss Bridle has held the position as stenographer in the Railway Mail Association offices for nearly ten years.

Miss Bridle was invited to luncheon and when she entered the R. M. A. offices, the door leading to the supply room was opened where the R. M. A. girls were assembled and where a bushel basket handsomely decorated with pink crepe paper, flowers and streamers was filled with beautiful gifts. Mrs. R. E. Ross made an appropriate presentation speech and Miss Bridle graciously responded.

Gifts included silverware, china, candlesticks, carving set and out-glass. After the presentation of gifts a bountiful luncheon was served.
